RESEARCH SUMMER SCHOOL – 2017

Visits

VISIT OF GÉNÉTHON – 30th JUNE 2017

Généthon is a research center founded in 1991. It is located in Evry (Essonne), close to Paris. Its main activity is research and clinical development in order to offer gene therapy to treat rare diseases, mainly neuromuscular diseases.

It is mostly financed by the French association against muscular dystrophy thanks to the donations of the French telethon.

VISIT OF ONIRIS/MANIMAL – 5th JULY 2017

ONIRIS is a public higher education research institution of the Ministry of Agriculture, Food and Forests.

The establishment contributes to the training of French veterinarians (close to 550 students in initial training), and food-processing engineers and technicians (close to 300 students in initial training). Research is supported by 12 research units and multiple collaborations with INRA (The French National Institute For Agricultural Research), CNRS (National Center for Scientific Research), INSERM (French National Institute of Health and Medical Research), and The University of Nantes.

ONIRIS research activity is focused on Food and Human & Animal Health. Research is organized thematically by nationally recognized units. Oniris also offers research facilities and services which are organized according to methodology. Oniris is now co-accredited by or associated to 4 regional doctoral schools, thereby making a major contribution to the research fields of the future.

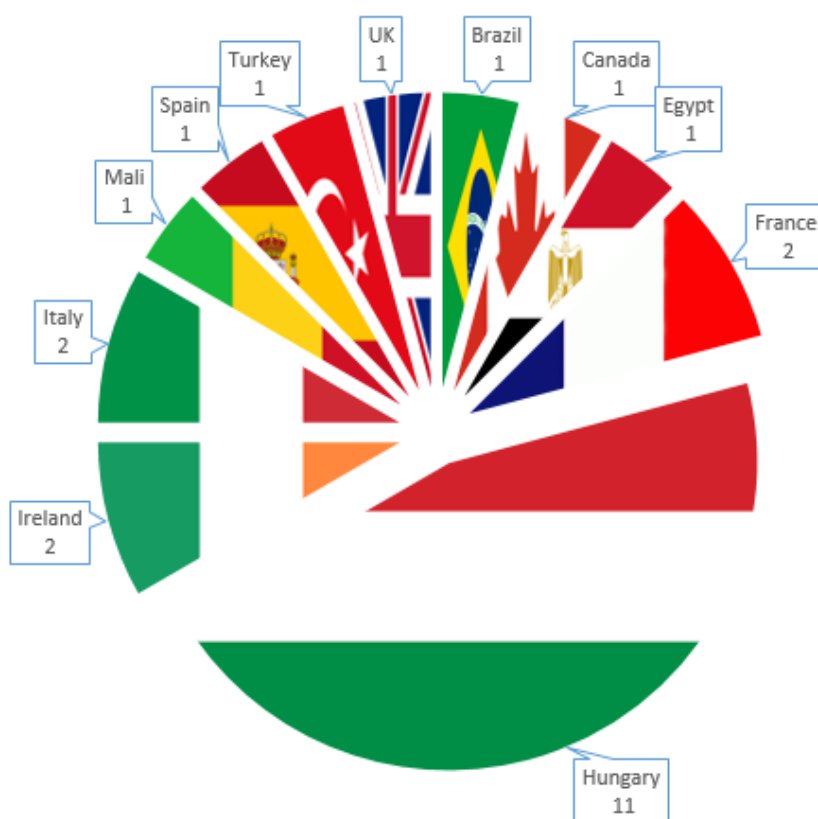

MAN-IMAL is the first France-based international higher education degree program exclusively founded on the “One World, One Health” initiative. Over the past years, it has become clear that along with globalization come new sanitary and health challenges. Interactions between humans, animals and food can no longer be treated as compartmentalized phenomena. This is reflected by the health crises that have emerged over the past ten years, as well as by the new food production challenges linked to ensuring health within the context of food sufficiency.
